

Responsible source collection

The sample library contains three original fictional documents created for Vertebra Research. They are released under CC0 for copying and adaptation. Add only PDFs you wrote, have permission to share, or obtained under a compatible license. Do not upload confidential records to a shared demo library.

Checking answers

Citations use physical PDF page numbers starting at one, not page labels printed inside a document. Open each cited passage and check whether it supports the answer. A valid document ID does not prove that an answer is correct. Scanned PDFs need OCR, which is not included in the first version.

Demo boundaries

The local demonstration uses word matching and verbatim source excerpts. Live mode uses embeddings, Supabase storage, and an answer model. The demo library is shared rather than separated into individual user accounts. Turning uploads off prevents new document submissions but does not make the existing library private. Use a shared access passphrase to restrict library access.
